'We need more top-end homes'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HAVERHILL'S future prosperity is being threatened by a lack of "top-end" housing in major development proposals, business leaders have warned.

Members of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce have complained that their views have been ignored as planners and developers draw up a scheme to develop the north-west area of the town.

Sarah Howard, who chairs the Chamber of Commerce, has written to councillors asking them to step in and "stop the clock being turned back" by including too many "affordable" homes in the development.

She claimed major employers in the town, including pharmaceutical company Genzyme and Tesco, supported the chamber's views. But the group now found itself at loggerheads with planners.

In her letter, Ms Howard said: "Rather than making the most of an opportunity, the town's future is threatened by the detail contained within the North-West Haverhill development proposal, presently at outline planning stage."

The scheme has been under discussion for more than three years and proposes 755 new homes on an area of land between Wratting Road and Withersfield Road by 2016.

Silver band in concert for Children in Need

HAVERHILL Silver Band will give a concert of music "from around the globe" on Sunday after playing during the Remembrance service.

The band will be performing at the town's arts centre from 7.30pm.

They will be giving their services for Children in Need on Saturday, December 4 in Bury St Edmunds in a concert that will be recorded by Radio Suffolk and transmitted on Christmas Day.

They will be back at the arts centre Sunday, December 12, when they will be joined by Haverhill Youth and Community Band in a family Christmas concert starting at 4pm.

The band will also be in action at the 35th anniversary Old Independent concert with Haverhill Operatic Society on Sunday, December 19.

Tickets for Sunday's Around the World concert, priced £6.50 and £5, are available from the arts centre box office on (01440) 714140.

Lessons are cool from the Antarctic

STUDENTS at a Haverhill school will get lessons from the Antarctic where one of their teachers has gone to carry out science projects.

Roussel De Carvalho, physics teacher at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College, is one of four teachers who have set off on an expedition supported and arranged by an educational charity, the Fuchs Foundation.

The foundation was set up in recognition of Sir Vivian Fuchs's achievements through the Trans-Antarctic Commonwealth Expedition of 1957-58 and as the first director of the British Antarctic Survey.

Mr De Carvalho and the other teachers – two from London and one

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

from Dorchester – will keep in touch through website blogs and satellite phone calls. They travelled from Heathrow on Thursday.

He will test the efficiency of sunscreen and the impact of ultraviolet radiation on Antarctic life measuring the efficiency or inefficiency of the ozone layer.

Mr De Carvalho said: "This is a project to engage students in real-life physics-chemistry of sunscreens as well as educating them about the dangers of UV radiation and skin cancer."

He will show his students how animals and plants manage to survive deep in Antarctica – an environment ravaged by UV rays and how it has adapted to survive.

In addition the team will be carrying out a project to provide ground truth data for the European Space Agency's (esa) CryoSat satellite.

CryoSat is specifically looking at mapping ice coverage over land and sea in the Polar Regions.

The area to which the expedition will be travelling gives esa a unique opportunity to collect in situ ice measurements to help calibrate the instrumentation on board the satellite.

CryoSat's flight path will be altered to record data on the ice thickness at the exact location of the expedition.

The teachers' blogs can be followed on www.fuchsfoundation.org

Coffee morning invitation to meet community police team

A CRIME prevention coffee morning will give Haverhill residents the chance to meet their Safer Neighbourhood Team and discuss any issues. Residents and representatives from local businesses will be able to chat informally to police and community support officers about their needs, concerns and expectations.

The coffee morning will take place at 9.30am on Monday, November 22, at the Leiston Centre, Leiston Road.

Old soldier fights on after injury for Poppy appeal

VETERAN Poppy appeal collector Bill Green has not been stopped from his good work despite suffering a knee injury when he was hit by a car.

Old soldier Mr Green, 90, who is currently in a rehabilitation unit at Place Court, Haverhill, after being discharged from hospital, completed a further hour's collection in the foyer of the Suffolk County Council home to qualify him for a gold award from the Royal British Legion.

Eileen Sizer, team leader at the home, said: "We had hoped that he could sit outside when the mums go to collect the children from school. But the weather was so bad, and he is just getting over a chest infection, that he had to stay in the home."

Mr Green is the top Poppy collector in the Sudbury Royal British Legion branch having collected £23,000 since 2001.

In 2006 he collapsed during a collection and spent a night in hospital. But he was out the next day and carried on with the collection, raising £5,000.

This year he had collected £3,500 when he was in collision with a car in a car park and had to spend time in hospital. He went to a rehabilitation unit in Bury St Edmunds but after contracting a chest infection he went back into hospital before coming out to the unit at Place Court.

In between hospital stays he managed a trip to open the Sudbury Second World War display.

Mrs Sizer said: "He is doing very well and hopefully we will turn him round and get him back home."

'Executive' homes call

It is proposed that 40 per cent of the new homes would be "affordable".

A master plan for the development was adopted last year and it is currently in the outline planning stage.

Mrs Howard told the Weekly News: "We're not against affordable housing. But we're trying to achieve a bit of balance."

"There is an ideal plot where more expensive houses could be built. If we don't build the more expensive housing you won't attract those types of people into the town."

"I have had a letter from Genzyme in which they said they struggle to recruit senior management because of the lack of suitable housing."

Ms Howard said she had received only two responses to the letter she sent to all 45 members of the borough council.

She said those who had responded were "non-committal" about the issue.

"Haverhill is becoming more attractive, but we need to attract higher-earners to continue moving in the right direction," she said.

Gordon Mussett, Haverhill town clerk, said the town council supported the Chamber of Commerce's view.

He said: "There's a wealth of one, two and three bedroom accommodation in Haverhill, but quite a shortage of what might be called executive housing."

"It's a pity that many of our senior executives from businesses on the industrial estate have to live out of town."

But Cllr Anne Gower, a member of the town, borough and county councils, said she was "bemused" by the issue.

She said: "I find the whole thing quite incredible. The chamber know full well that the borough is completely behind the need for executive-style housing, but it's in the hands of the planners and the developers to sort out."

■ What do you think? Does Haverhill suffer from a lack of high-end homes? Is the balance tipped in favour of affordable homes? Should new developments include such a high proportion of them or would the town benefit from more top-end options? # Thugs attack teenage girl

A MAN wearing a Clockwork Orange-style bowler hat was among three thugs who attacked a 17-year-old girl.

The hat is reminiscent of those worn in the banned 1971 Stanley Kubrick movie about a bizarre gang of delinquents.

Detectives in Haverhill hope the distinctive headgear will help identify the gang after the attack in the area of Vange Place.

The incident happened between 8.30pm and 11.30pm on Thursday.

The girl said she had walked from the Tesco store along the footpath to the rear of the leisure centre when she met the men.

They asked her to buy some cigarettes for them but when she refused she said she was assaulted by the men.

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

One man is described as white, in his 20s, of slim build, around 5ft 5ins tall and was wearing white or grey dirty tracksuit bottoms and a grey top.

Another was wearing the bowler hat and was in his early 30s, white with a tanned complexion, a dirty beard and dark coloured quite scruffy hair.

He was slimmer and taller than the first man and was wearing white/grey dirty tracksuit bottoms and a bright coloured jacket with a pattern on.

The third man was described as older, possibly in his mid 40s to early 50s, was shorter and of bigger build and had a black eye and was wearing a dirty white baseball cap.

A police spokeswoman said: "Police are urging anyone who was in the area around this time to come forward, regardless of whether they think they saw anything of use, and would also like to hear from anyone who may have seen the teenage girl or three men matching this distinctive description in the vicinity during the evening."

"Officers are particularly keen to trace a man described as white, around 20 years old, with a beard, dark coloured hair and glasses who was carrying a carrier bag and who the girl said she spoke to en route to her friend's house after the incident."

Call West Suffolk CID on (01473) 613500.

Police station open hours hit by cost cuts

SHORTER opening hours at police stations across the district take effect from December 1.

The change, part of cost-cutting measures by the Suffolk force, mean that Haverhill station will open from 9am to 5pm every day.

The stations were previously open for up to 12 hours and some civilian staff jobs are likely to be cut.

A force spokeswoman said: "In the current financial climate, Suffolk Constabulary is facing unprecedented demands to make financial savings and it is crucial that all resources are used in the most effective manner, whilst continuing to provide essential services to the public."

The changes will not affect the response to 999 calls or other emergencies.

Jade shines to win place in open mic finals

JADE Donno has made it through to the next round of the Open Mic UK 2010 talent competition.

The 16-year-old, from Sturmer, will perform live at the area finals at the Bedford Corn Exchange on November 28 at 1pm.

Jade won her place after performing her rendition of Adele's To Make You Feel My Love at the live regional finals at the Corn Exchange in Ipswich.

The panel of judges, including Jenny Lock from Love Music 24, said: "Jade's was a very warm and natural performance. Good passion. Nerves made some tuning issues, but a strong, confident performance. She's got it!"

Jade said: "I was a little nervous before the performance but more than anything I was just excited to be there and to get the opportunity to sing again. It was brilliant to see my family and friends in the audience, all there to support me."

Jade also won the Ipswich Exposure Award and a prize of £250 given to the entrant who had gained the most publicity in the run-up to the final.

The overall winner will be offered a recording contract. They will also have the chance to tour the UK including performing at the O2.

Council's fight for youth club

A YOUTH club threatened with closure could be taken over by a town council.

The Hangar youth club in Haverhill is on a "red" list of facilities, drawn up by Suffolk County Council, which could close due to poor attendance.

But Gordon Mussett, the town clerk, told the Weekly News the club was in fact already closed after youth workers became concerned about youngsters under the influence of alcohol trying to get in and hanging around in the grounds when they were refused entry.

The club has not operated since the spring and the figures quoted by the county council were based on attendances between April and September – when it was shut.

Mr Mussett said attendance figures for each Friday before the closure decision was between 40

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk and 50. He said another club, run by volunteers in the same building but for a younger age group of 10-13-year-olds, attracted around 40 youngsters every Thursday.

Cllr Graham Newman, the county council's portfolio holder for children and young persons' services, claimed only a very small percentage of youngsters eligible to use youth clubs were actually attending them.

The closure plans are part of the county council's cost saving measures.

Better-attended clubs such as Newmarket's Foley House could be taken over by a support group as part of the county's policy of "divesting" itself of many functions.

Mr Mussett said the town council had previously expressed an interest in managing the youth service in Haverhill.

He has contacted the town's county councillors to ask them to take up the issue.

He said: "One of the bits of work we did last year was to identify if there was enough provision for young people in the town."

"We established that if all the Year 10s turned up there may not be enough physical space for them."

"We already invest heavily in youth services. Our spend on youth services is about £2 a head in terms of council tax – that's £14,000-£15,000."

"It's disappointing that the county council hasn't come to us and consulted us about it. We could have put a reasoned case for keeping the youth club open."

Carer had 'addiction' for indecent images

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A CARER at an old people's home lost his job after police found more than 28,000 indecent pictures of children on computers he owned.

Keiran Stewart, 26, was caught after he sent one of the images to a man he met through a gay chatroom and the man reported him to the police.

Stewart, of High Street, Haverhill, told police he had become "addicted" to viewing indecent images of young boys and sometimes ran his computer all night to download the pornography.

He admitted one offence of distributing indecent images, one of possessing indecent images and 16 charges of making indecent images. The offences were committed between January 2008 and February this year, Ipswich Crown Court heard.

Judge David Goodin made Stewart the subject of a community order with supervision by the probation service for five years. He was also ordered to take part in a rehabilitation programme for sex offenders and sign the sex offenders' register for five years.

Judge Goodin also banned him from having any equipment capable of accessing the internet for three years and was banned from being with anyone under the age of 16 without a parent or responsible adult being present.

His computer equipment – two laptops, a desktop computer tower and an external hard drive – was ordered to be destroyed along with a disc containing indecent images.

Judge Goodin told him: "Every time you look at one of these images you feed demand for a little boy to be attacked. That is the evil of this offending."

Police technical experts found 28,715 images, some in the most serious category, on computer equipment owned by Stewart.

Roger Brown, defence barrister, said that Stewart lost his job as a carer as well as a subsequent job as a result of the prosecution. He said Stewart, who had no previous offences, would benefit from professional help.

Home team: Caroline Maclean meets members of the new Maclean House at Parkway Middle School, Haverhill.

House honour for school's basketball star

A WHEELCHAIR basketball international has returned to her old school where one of the houses has been named in her honour.

Caroline Maclean met pupils in Maclean House in Parkway Middle School, Haverhill, and told them how one of the teachers encouraged her to take up the sport with the promise of a Mars bar when she scored her first basket.

Caroline, part of the Great Britain team at previous Paralympics, is aiming to take part in the London 2012 Games and next year's European championships.

She said: "The pupils were brilliant. They showed me round the whole school and they were really lovely. It is incredibly nice of them to name one of their houses after me.

"They have a big wall with my name on it and lots of photographs.

"This visit was just for Maclean House but I'm hoping to go back again and do something with the whole school."

Caroline, 35, who contracted polio as a baby, said: "I loved going back to the school. I wanted to stay."

Teacher Avril Dawson, head of Maclean House, said: "The children were absolutely thrilled."

Caroline helped select a logo for the house, designed by Courtney Hayward, 11.

Appeal on refusal of homes on club site

AN appeal is to be lodged over the refusal of planning permission for a housing development on the site of Haverhill Snooker Club.

The scheme, for eight flats and 13 houses and maisonettes on the Chalkstone Way site, were rejected by a majority vote by councillors at St Edmundsbury Borough Council's planning and development committee.

Permission was refused because of an objection by Anglian Water which wants a 400-metre "cordon sanitaire" between the nearby sewage works and any new homes.

Cllr Anne Gower, who was one of three councillors who wanted the scheme to be approved, said: "I'm really quite cross about it. I find it completely irrational.

"In this economic climate it's difficult enough to get people to build anything."

Peter Webster, chartered town planner representing Keith and Hazel Pawley, who own the snooker club, said: "We will be taking it to appeal and we're already in dialogue with an air quality consultant."

He said there were already 964 homes within the 400-metre area around the sewage works and a development of nine flats within the zone was currently being completed.

He said: "Anglian Water wants to protect itself from future complaints. But it's an arbitrary thing and is not in any statute or law.

"It is frustrating that Anglian Water can dictate what can and cannot be built in a particular location."

An appeal will mean the application will be considered by a government-appointed planning inspector

A weekend to remember

Sir, May I join in the response of praise to the Haverhill Remembrance Festival held at the Arts Centre. The work in producing such a great exhibition must have been enormous and all done by volunteers who must have given up a great deal of time to put such an exhibition together. I would like to thank you all, it was indeed worthwhile and every stand was full of interest and enthusiastically manned by volunteers who were able to relate many stories to us. The school also did a fantastic job joining in with their lovely poppies and messages. Haverhill should be proud that we have so many good people in our town including our schools who are proud to give their time to our community. Well done and congratulations, it was indeed a weekend to remember.

Reader Tracy Taylor recognised herself in the photo as well as several other Girl Guides. She writes: "This is a picture of the 2nd Haverhill Girl Guides. The girls are: back row – Michelle Guinvan, Athena Morse, Debbie Lane, Amanda Donkin, Amanda Ashby,

Good neighbours needed for hospice help scheme

A SCHEME that encourages volunteers to offer practical support to people with life-shortening illness is being piloted in Haverhill.

The Hospice Neighbours Scheme aims to provide simple but compassionate support to individuals and their families with help from a group of trained volunteers.

Simple tasks could include walking the dog, collecting a prescription, mowing the lawn, going to the post office or just having a chat over a cup of tea.

St Nicholas' Hospice Care, based in Bury St Edmunds, is looking for a Haverhill volunteer co-ordinator to run the scheme in the town.

Emma Page, voluntary services manager, said: "We have always been very fortunate with the support the hospice receives from the Haverhill area and this is one of the reasons why we chose the town for the pilot scheme.

"The tasks that volunteers could be doing are relatively simple, but they make a massive difference to people with life-shortening illnesses who are perhaps unable to walk their dog or do a little gardening.

"By stripping away smaller, but still important, household tasks, it will allow families to do what they want to do the most – spend time with and care for their loved ones at home."

The role of the volunteer co-ordinator includes overseeing the pilot project and matching the needs of people to the skills and availability of the volunteer team.

Ms Page added: "A flexible commitment will be needed from the co-ordinator as during the set up stage it is anticipated we will ask for more of their time than when the scheme is up and running.

"The hospice will provide all the training, skills and IT equipment needed and fully support the coordinator all the way."

As well as a co-ordinator, the hospice also needs volunteers to take part in the scheme. It has already received early interest from community groups, individuals and schools in the area.

It is estimated that half of the 250 patients currently on the Hospice caseload would benefit from the scheme.

If successful, the scheme could be rolled out across west Suffolk.

Council boss defends cuts

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

COUNCIL leaders have defended cuts of £110 million and a programme of "divesting" itself of some of its major functions.

An open letter to the people of Suffolk has been written by the county council's cabinet.

They say the council is not selling off all its services to the private sector and planning job cuts of between 200 and 500.

They say: "The problem we are facing is fairly simple.

"As a result of the current cutbacks, all councils will have 28 per cent less funding from central government over the next four years.

"Approximately 70 per cent of our funding comes from central government with the result that we have to find £110m of cost cutting to be able to balance the books.

"We have been told that these cost reductions will be spread over four years and we need to find a sustainable means of reducing our spend over this period."

Cabinet's open letter explains £110m cuts to balance books

They say that without the cuts council tax bills would have to rise by an average of £108 or all services would have to be drastically cut.

But they argue that their proposal for a "New Strategic Direction" will enable services to continue to run – but cost less.

They say: "We aim to change the traditional shape of a county council.

"Currently it's a huge organisation (with all its associated overheads, costs and bureaucracy) that decides which services it should pay for to meet the needs of the customer and then either delivers them itself, or gets others to do so on its behalf.

"We want the council to be one that enables people to decide what services they want and for others to deliver services in a much less bureaucratic, and more cost-effective way, at significantly less cost."

The letter adds: "But as leaders in Suffolk, we want to be clear with the residents of Suffolk – this transformation will take time to implement and we are already facing a £40m cut in next year's budget so some cuts to services will be necessary in order to make the books balance."

Views of voluntary organisations, town and parish councils together with individual comments will be reported to the county council on December 2.

Comments on the changes can be left by visiting www.suffolk.gov.uk/newstrategicdirection

Volunteer centre in running for £3k boost

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A PUBLIC vote will decide how £5,000 is spent by NatWest bank's community fund.

EARTH, Gatehouse Caring in West Suffolk and Haverhill and District Volunteering Centre have been shortlisted and a public vote will decide which organisation receives the top donation of £3,000.

The remaining two projects will receive £1,000 each.

The public can vote by visiting their local NatWest branch or going online at www.natwest.com/communityfund

Voting closes on November 26.

The £5,000 fund was launched in August to support charities and good causes in communities served by NatWest branches in Haverhill, Bury St Edmunds, Newmarket, Thetford, Ely and Saffron Walden. A panel featuring representatives from the local community reviewed the applications and chose the three charities to benefit from the fund.

Nationally, 380 individual funds were created and more than 1,100 local organisations will receive a donation.

The funds form a key part of the recently launched NatWest customer charter, which sets out what customers can expect from the bank and includes a commitment to support local communities served by the bank.

Damien Goldsack, senior bank manager at NatWest, said: "The community fund has really captured the imagination of the public and I have been overwhelmed by the response so far."

"It was always going to be difficult to choose just three beneficiaries from the many good causes put forward, and it was great to have local people help make that decision."

"We have three very worthy winners, all of whom will benefit. Now we need the public to decide how the £5,000 is allocated."

Tweet police on the web

POLICE are using Twitter to reach out to the public in Cambridgeshire.

It is hoped the 'tweets' will give the public a better insight into police work - and encourage feedback.

The force's Twitter page already has 40 followers.

Chief Constable Simon Parr hopes the constabulary will connect with people using social networking sites, as well as those reading or watching traditional media.

Mr Parr said: "There is a lot of great police work going on in the county every day and we want to share that with the public, using a range of tools to ensure as many people as possible has access to this information."

"Our Twitter account is a quick way for people to dip in and out of the work we do and is accessible 24 hours a day, at the convenience of the public."

"More importantly, the public can share this information with friends, family or colleagues and provide us with instant feedback on their thoughts on our work."

"This is also an opportunity for us to reach an audience that might not have shown an interest, or expressed an opinion on police work before."

To follow the force's Twitter page visit www.twitter.com/cambscops

Vandal's swear word spray attack

OBSCENE graffiti was written on a van while it was parked for just five minutes.

A swear word was scrawled on the side of the silver-coloured Vauxhall Vivaro when it stopped in Queen Street, Haverhill, between 7pm and 7.05pm last Wednesday.

Police said the area was busy at the time with people in the street and at a nearby takeaway. They have appealed for anyone who saw the offender spraying the paint to come forward.

Anyone with information should call Sgt Sarah Bartley at the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Bus hobby man avoids jail term

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A BUS spotter ran up a bill of nearly £11,000 by using his employer's computer system to access DVLA records of previous owners of buses.

Steven Curl, 45, lost his job with AXA Insurance, where he was a claims handler, and was given a five-month jail sentence, suspended for 12 months, when he appeared at Ipswich Crown Court.

Curl, of Pearmain Walk, Haverhill, admitted fraud by abuse of his position. He was also ordered to do 200 hours of unpaid community work and will face a further court hearing to claim back the cash.

Enthusiast charged 3,000 DVLA inquiries to insurance company

The court heard the offences came to light in October of last year when the DVLA contacted AXA to ask why details of a particular bus had been requested.

An internal investigation revealed that over the previous 20 months Curl had accessed information from the DVLA around 3,000 times at a cost of £3.75 per inquiry.

Patricia Doggett, prosecuting, said Curl was a member of the management committee of a bus enthusiasts' group called PSV Circle. He used the information about the previous owners of buses to write about the vehicles in newsletters.

When arrested on May 6 this year Curl admitted to police that his actions were inappropriate and may have breached the Data Protection Act.

In mitigation, Lindsay Cox said that Curl had committed the offences because of his hobby.

He said: "This is a case, unusually, where the fraud is not committed for financial gain."

Champion racer Charley on his way to the top

AFTER just 16 months of racing, champion racer Charley Streeton, from Stradishall, has qualified for the RDC Ministox Championship.

Charley is not a boy who spends his free time behind a computer screen.

Instead this 12-year-old, who attends Clare Middle School in Sudbury, is most likely to be found fixing cars in his dad's Haverhill garage.

His early passion for cars inspired Charley to take up Ministox racing in June last year, two days after his 11th Birthday.

He has since raced at Mildenhall and Dover tracks, collecting various trophies along the way.

Charley was one of the youngest drivers to take part in the Ministox event on Saturday, October 30.

Despite breaking his foot last February, he managed to accumulate enough points to put him in 9th place in the starting grid.

Racing as number 320 in red, yellow and green, Charley was sponsored by local businesses Autozone and Premier Tyres.

Proud dad Pete, who runs Premier Tyres, said: "I'll not be surprised if Charley becomes the next Jensen Button."

Ruth Halkon

Championship qualifier: Charley Streeton, 12, is racing his way to the top on the Ministox scene.

Remember loved ones with service

A MOVING service which will give people the opportunity to remember loved ones will be held in Haverhill next month.

The annual Light Up A Life service, held by St Nicholas' Hospice Care, has already given hundreds of people across west Suffolk the chance to pay tribute to family members who have passed away.

The names of every person being remembered will be read out during the thanksgiving service at Haverhill Methodist Church on Tuesday, December 14, at 6.30pm.

One woman, who did not want to be named but attended one of the services last year, said: "Light Up A Life is a very personal way of remembering a loved one."

"And while the moment is individual to you, the fact that you are sharing a tribute with many other people just adds to the special event."

Hospice chaplain Charles Amoah added: "The Light Up A Life events are always a very special part of our calendar - it is something we want the whole Haverhill community to come and share in."

"They allow people to pay their own special tributes to loved ones passed, regardless of whether they have been touched by hospice care or not."

"We have decided to extend the number of services we will be holding this year to incorporate a total of six towns or villages."

There will be an opportunity to light a free virtual candle in memory of a loved one by visiting the Hospice website www.stnicholashospice.org.uk

There is no charge for the Light Up A Life event but anyone wanting to is asked to make a donation to the hospice.

More information is available from Jenny Unitt on (01284) 715572.

“The Switchover Help Scheme made my switch to digital TV easy”

You may be entitled to help, just like Jean if you're 75 and over or eligible disabled.

“I love watching telly. Feet up with a cuppa, watching Bargain Hunt. Paradise.

But something came between me and my telly. They call it ‘the digital TV switchover’. It’s when the analogue signal is turned off and you start to lose your TV channels, unless you’re ready. It comes to this area soon and will affect every TV in your home that isn’t ready for switchover. No point sticking your head in the sand hoping it will go away. It needs sorting.

Help is at hand

As it turned out, there was no need for me to fret. I discovered that everyone 75 and over or eligible disabled was entitled to help switching one of their TVs to digital. I didn’t even have to ask. An information pack from the Switchover Help Scheme just turned up one morning in the post. It’s run by the BBC. For £40 they will arrange for an approved installer to supply and install everything. If you’re eligible and also on certain income-related benefits you don’t pay a penny. There are also other digital options to choose from, but they may cost a bit more.

Alan came and set everything up for me. He even took time to show me how to use it. He explained that there were no hidden costs either. In fact the only surprise I got was when Alan showed me all the extra TV channels I could watch for free. When he finished at mine, he went next

Alan the installer

Well, they didn’t have to tell me twice. I rang up the freephone number and got the help I was entitled to. The lady at the Help Scheme arranged for someone to come round and a very nice fella called door to Peggy’s. Although she already had digital on her living room telly, she was still entitled to help switching one TV, so he sorted out the TV in her bedroom which she watches a lot.

The help continues

The help doesn’t stop there. There is an aftercare service which is very reassuring while you’re getting used to things. You can call up if you have any problems. So if you need a little extra help, it’s there.”

What should you do now?

Everyone who is entitled to help will receive an information pack from the Help Scheme. But if you’d like to apply now, you can call free on 0800 40 85 900 or visit helpscheme.co.uk

Policing team solves rowdy gang problem

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HAVERHILL police's Safer Neighbourhood Team was among the six finalists in a Suffolk awards scheme.

The Partnership Problem Saving Awards were presented at the county's police headquarters at Martlesham Heath, near Ipswich on Monday.

The top award was taken by the team from Mid-Suffolk.

But the Haverhill team was selected as a finalist from the 30 teams across the county.

They gave a presentation to officers and partner agencies who voted through an electronic system.

The Haverhill team reported on action taken to tackle anti-social behaviour and community tension identified by local businesses, schools and residents. This led to an increase of reported incidents and intelligence identified an emerging gang of youths within Haverhill. The group contained around 60 youths that called themselves 'The Pinkies.'

Youths were reported to be intimidating customers at a number of businesses and incidents were recorded on CCTV.

'High standard': Suffolk County Council community safety unit manager, Alan Keely.

The team helped organise an anti-social behaviour case conference with partners which resulted in the launch of Operation Staysafe. This involved a multi-agency approach to identify the youths in the group.

Officers and other agencies worked closely with the CCTV operators and this led to a number of key individuals being quickly identified to enable educational and enforcement work to be carried out to disperse the emerging group. Parents of those identified were invited to watch the footage with the police, which had a very positive effect.

Funding from the Community Safety Partnership was provided to purchase and equip a multi-functional youth bus called On The Spot. The bus is staffed by youth workers who use it to engage with and occupy local young people through mixing decks, gaming consoles, televisions and the internet.

The tactics employed successfully dispersed the group and there was an immediate decrease in reports of anti-social behaviour, reported incidents and community tension within Haverhill.

Alan Keely, Suffolk County Council's community safety unit manager, said: "The standard of entries this year has been of a very high quality and shows clearly the strength of partnership working."

"It is essential that we maintain this standard to ensure that Suffolk continues to be one of the safest places in the country. I have every confidence that we can do this."

■ Pc Will Wright, a member of the Haverhill SNT, was among the nominees for a national award in London given by Jane's Police Review. Unfortunately he did not win the top award.

Olympian backs lifesavers' £1m fundraising bid

OLYMPIC swimmer Mark Foster has backed a life-saving charity's campaign to raise £1 million.

The Magpas Helimedix 'One in a million' campaign is inviting people in Cambridgeshire and Bedfordshire to help raise £1 million – by giving a pound each to the cause.

Charity chiefs have vowed that every pound will help save lives.

St Neots-based Mr Foster – a five times Olympian and eight times record holding British swimming sensation – has thrown his weight behind the campaign.

Daryl Brown, chief operating officer for Magpas, said: "Because of Magpas's partnership with the police, we are able to fly to the scene of medical emergencies in the night with a doctor on board and are the only service that can do this in the UK."

To show support for Magpas and save lives, send £1 attached to a card in an envelope to Magpas Helimedix, 105 Needingworth Road, PE27 5WF.

Thieves take horsebox

A HORSEBOX trailer was stolen from a barn, along with a grass trimmer and two petrol cans.

The green and white trailer had been left secured in the barn at Hawkedon. It was stolen between 5pm and 7pm Monday.

Anyone with information should contact Pc Andrew Green at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Give your skin a lot of TLC during winter

GIVE your skin and hair a beauty winter warm up with DIY treatments and SOS protection.

WINTER WOE: "Since I've cranked up the central heating my complexion is feeling parched."

SOS: When your skin starts to feel drier in the colder months, it's a good indication you need to crank up the skincare intensity along with your radiator setting.

"I recommend doubling up with a facial oil at night underneath your existing moisturiser," advises Jo Givens, treatments manager at Liz Earle.

"If you prefer to use a lighter product in the day, switch to a richer moisturiser at night to provide maximum hydration while you sleep."

Look for humectant and emollient ingredients, which soften the skin and form a protective layer to keep moisture locked in.

WINTER WOE: "The cold snap has left the ends of my hair looking dry and my daily straightener habit isn't helping matters."

SOS: Go for natural, loose waves that take minimal effort and give the damaging styling tools a winter vacation.

"To pull off this style, hair should be in tip-top condition and ready for the bitter winter air so I recommend treating your locks to a conditioning mask once a week for a real hydration boost," recommends Ben Cooke, celebrity stylist and co-founder of Locknogo.

Leave on for 2-3 minutes for nourishment and an ultra-glossy finish.

WINTER WOE: "I'm strapped for cash with Christmas approaching so I can only invest in one new beauty product to see me through the winter."

SOS: Try a one-fix-all product that you can carry around in your handbag for 24/7 winter beauty saviour.

Josephine Fairley, co-author of The Green Beauty Bible recommends a multi-purpose balm: "With a great balm, you can de-junk half your bathroom shelf," she suggests.

"The ultimate multi-taskers, they can deliver as moisturiser, cuticle-smoother, hand-cream, heel-softener, lip balm and more."

WINTER WOE: "I've swapped

my refreshing summer showers for cosy baths but I'm worried I'm drying out my skin."

SOS: Keep your skin radiant with a conditioning bath oil that's both comforting on your skin and relaxing for the soul to ease the winter blues.

"Nurturing is something I feel is more important in the winter than the summer months," says Noella Gabriel, Elemis director of product development.

"A winter skin needs protection, nourishment, extra nutrients, pampering and nurturing. Light some candles to create the right atmosphere and run a warm bath with your favourite body product."

"As you relax, perform your own home spa ritual within the cosiness and warmth of your bathroom."

Winter warmer: Look after number one – that's your skin and hair!

Christmas all wrapped up

How Christmas caught the public's imagination

IT'S almost impossible to imagine now, but at the beginning of the 19th century Christmas was hardly celebrated at all. Yet by the end of the century it had become Britain's biggest annual celebration, and took on many of the traditions which we recognise today.

Many attribute this change in attitude to Queen Victoria, and indeed her marriage to the Prince Albert did introduce many festive trends. In 1848 the Illustrated London News published a drawing of the royal family celebrating around a decorated Christmas tree, which was a tradition from his native Germany. Soon every home in Britain wanted its own tree, decorated with candles, sweets, fruit, homemade decorations and small gifts.

In 1843 Henry Cole commissioned an artist to design a card for Christmas. The illustration Christmas shopping: What we take for granted now was once unheard of.

showed a group of people around a dinner table and a Christmas message. At one shilling each, these were pricey for ordinary Victorians and were only available to wealthy families. However the sentiment caught on and many children – Queen Victoria's included – were encouraged to make their own Christmas cards. In this age of industrialisation colour printing technology quickly became more advanced, causing the price of card production to drop significantly. Together with the introduction of the halfpenny postage rate, the Christmas card industry took off. By the 1880s the sending of cards had become hugely popular, creating a lucrative industry that produced 11.5 million cards in 1880 alone.

Another festive tradition began in 1848 when a British confectioner, Tom Smith, invented a bold new way to sell sweets. Inspired by a trip to Paris where he saw bon bons – sugared almonds wrapped in twists of paper – he came up with the idea of the Christmas cracker: a simple package filled with sweets that snapped when pulled apart. The sweets were replaced by small gifts and paper hats in the late Victorian period, and remain in this form as an essential part of a modern Christmas.

Christmas decorations: An integral part of the fun.

Little monsters on the hunt for bugs

YOUNGSTERS at a pre-school had their first-ever Hallowe'en Bug Hunt.

Children from Haverhill's Stepping Stones Under 5s searched the playground to find laminated pictures of bugs.

There was a prize for the child who collected the most pictures. There were also prizes for the best dressed boy and girl.

Other activities included face painting and temporary tattoos. Elaine McManus, who runs the pre-school, said: "I was amazed by the turnout and the day was a huge success and has boosted funds for the pre-school."

Couple's crusade to help prevent 'national disaster'

By the time they reach driving age, two-thirds of teenagers know someone who has been killed or injured in a road crash, a new survey shows. SUZAN UZEL reports.

It was Christmas morning when Amy Gonzales and her boyfriend Paul Ray were mown down by a drunken driver.

Amy lost her life – aged only 18 – while Paul survived the crash in St Neots High Street in 2008 but suffered horrendous injuries.

Sadly, Amy's family are not alone in having lost a loved one to a road crash.

More than one person is killed or seriously injured on Cambridgeshire's roads every day – and a disproportionate number of those are aged 17 to 25.

As many as 67 per cent of 16 and 17-year-olds know at least one road casualty, with 22 per cent saying they know three or more, an AA survey has revealed.

By their 18th birthday, 11 per cent of motorists have themselves been in a crash involving injury or death, according to the survey.

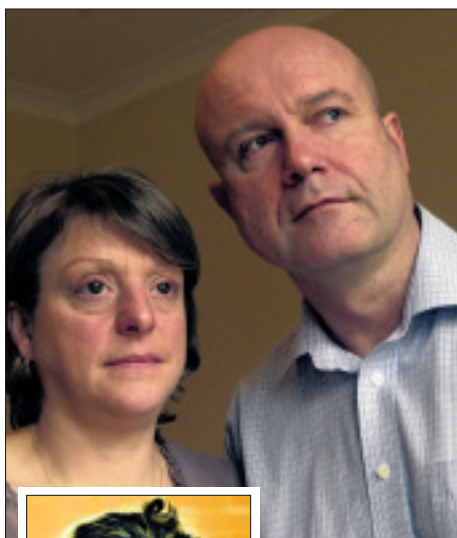

Amy's parents, Melanie and Kevin Gonzales, are calling for young people to be educated about driving as part of the school curriculum.

Mr Gonzales said: "We think it should be part of the school curriculum and that young people should be educated through both desk-based learning and practical learning with cars."

He said the number of young people who die on the roads each year is "a national disaster", adding: "Each school has an example of one of their students having being killed on the roads."

The couple have visited schools in the region, telling students what happened to Amy and trying to educate them about the dangers of driving.

Mr Gonzales said:

Campaigners: Melanie and Kevin Gonzales, above, want young people to be educated about driving as part of the school curriculum. Amy Gonzales, left, was aged 18 when she was killed by a drunken driver.

"When we talk to them, we ask whether any one of their peers or anyone at the school has been killed in a road crash. In most cases, the hands go up."

He added: "You are giving a child a lump of metal to propel around the streets at high speed, without any real depth of understanding or awareness of what they are doing."

"They pass a test and they don't realise how dangerous it can be. It's all about the glory of driving a car and how it opens up their social lives – but there is no emphasis on the fact that if it gets into the wrong hands, it's just a lethal machine."

Based on replies from 2,000 people aged 16 to 25, the AA poll also showed that two-thirds of respondents in this age range said young people had the biggest role to play in preventing road casualties among young people.

Asked for the best solutions, 37 per cent pointed to further training on aspects such as motorway, night or wet-weather driving, while 30 per cent said road safety should be added to the school curriculum.

Phil Rennie, road safety officer at Cambridgeshire County Council, said "extensive work" is carried out in schools and further education colleges with regard to road safety.

He said "safety zones" are provided for younger children where a crash is simulated with dummies in a model car, both with and without seatbelts, showing the dangers of not strapping up.

They are also warned about the importance of wearing cycle helmets.

He said that at Cambridge Regional College, a For My Girlfriend theatre production has been developed with youngsters aged 16-19 acting out a play about a young driver having just passed his driving test.

He said: "He has a fatal car accident with his girlfriend and friends in the car after drinking celebratory alcohol. His passengers aren't wearing seatbelts and they are distracting the driver by playing loud music, talking and shouting."

"A disproportionate number of accidents are with young guys driving aged 17-25."

"This shows them that driving recklessly not only puts their life at risk, but also their girlfriend's."

Facts and figures for new drivers

■ A total of 69 per cent of those killed or seriously injured on Cambridgeshire and Peterborough's roads were males – the peak age for fatalities was 20.

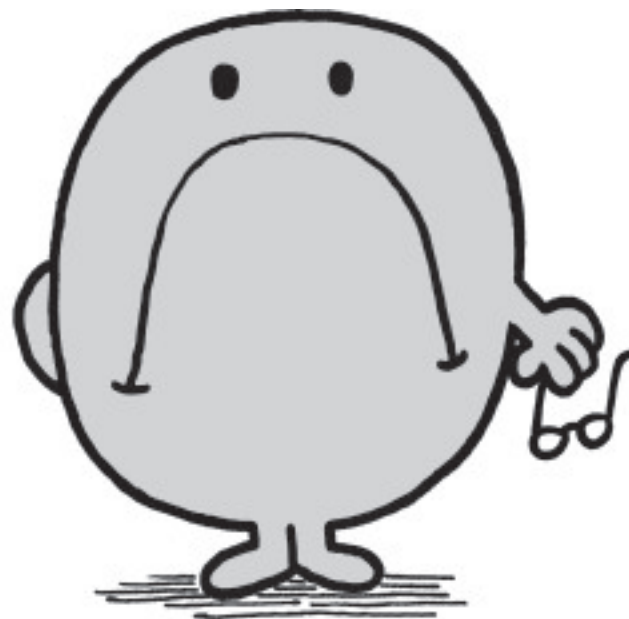

■ In 2009, there were 974 casualties on the roads in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough among those aged 17-25 – the peak age for accident victims was 18.

■ The 1994-1998 baseline average for casualties aged between 17-25 stood at 1,339 in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough – so last year's figure represents a 27 per cent reduction in casualties among the 17-25 age group compared with the historic average.

■ In 2009, there were 118 arrests for drink-driving in the county – 91 per cent of those were male and 35 of those 107 males arrested were aged just 17-25 – 33 per cent.

■ A further 47 males from the 107 were aged 26-45. That's 44 per cent, and they represent a much wider age range than the younger group.

Enjoy traditional charms of Linton

THE picturesque village of Linton is well worth a visit over the Christmas holidays, and here are five good reasons why:

1. Great pubs – the village has three pubs along its High Street, the Crown, the Dog and Duck and the Waggon and Horses. The Crown is a family-run business which also offers a fantastic restaurant and accommodation, whilst the Dog and Duck specialises in Italian cuisine, with monthly offers on different meals. The Waggon and Horses meanwhile offers a great selection of real ale and has wide-screen TV for catching up on your sports.

2. The scenery – Linton is a cosy village, with many old buildings and small shops. The River Granta flows through on its way to Cambridge, resulting in several stunning winter walking routes, to help burn you off those mince pies.

3. The water tower – a listed building since summer 2008, the impressive structure has been overlooking the village from its site on Rivey Hill since the 1930s. Make sure to check it out, and if it's a white Christmas, the hill will make for great sledding action.

4. Linton Zoo – a firm favourite for many families, and with their brand new enormous dinosaur models, there's lots for kids to learn and experience. The zoo, based on Hadstock Road, opened in Linton in 1972 and has built a large collection of wildlife ranging from Mexican red-kneed tarantulas and snakes to giant tortoises, hornbills, toucans, parrots, owls and pheasants to beautiful snow leopards, magnificent Amur tigers, Hartmann Mountain zebra and Brazilian tapir.

Linton Zoo is open throughout the holidays, except Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and Boxing Day.

5. Chilford Hall and Vineyards – Linton's historic venue will be alive and kicking this winter, with numerous part nights, including a New Year's Eve party and buffet, and Queen and Abba tribute nights in the lead-up to Christmas.

Glamour night for garden

A GLITZ and glamour evening will give people the chance to sparkle in style.

Those who attend the event in Linton Church of England School in Church Lane, Linton, on Friday, November 19, can learn the tricks of the trade from a top image and style consultant, get their nails, hair and make up done, shop and relax with a glass of wine.

Tickets are £7 and are available by calling (01223) 891421 or from Brooks designer dress agency. Proceeds will go towards the infants school which is planning to install a musical garden in the play area.

Library bazaar for Valley cats

A CHRISTMAS bazaar will raise money for cats that need rehoming.

The Haverhill and Stour Valley Cats Protection group will hold the event on Saturday, November 20, at the town's library between 10am and 2pm.

Pictures of cats needing new homes will be on display and Cats Protection Christmas goods will be on sale. For more details call (01440) 730096.

Walk-in thief takes laptop

A WALK-IN burglar got away with a games console and a laptop computer. The burglar got into the house at The Keep, Haverhill, between 6pm and 9.30pm Saturday through an unlocked door. Anyone with information is asked to call Det Con Claire Burgess at West Suffolk CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Shock figures on how OAPs fight the cold

ONE in five older people in the East of England could resort to extreme measures to keep warm this winter, a charity has warned.

And one in three are concerned about being able to afford their energy bills, new research from Age UK revealed.

As the charity launches its Spread the Warmth campaign to help people in later life stay warmer this winter, the research provides evidence of the struggle older people in the East of England will face in the coming months.

Last winter, one in five over-60s took drastic action to fend off the cold, including wearing coats and scarves inside (9 per cent), living in just one room to contain the heat (6 per cent) and staying in bed by day (3 per cent).

The campaign will focus on helping older people stay warm, as well as reminding neighbours and friends how they can help.

People can make a donation by calling 0800 1698787 or get advice by calling 0800 1696565. Visit www.spreadthewarmth.org.uk

■ Age UK and smoothie firm Innocent have, as part of Spread the Warmth, launched The Big Knit.

Bottles of Innocent smoothies will be wearing knitted woollen hats in all Sainsbury's and Boots stores. For each hatted bottle sold, Innocent will donate 25p to Age UK.

The aim is to raise up to £200,000 to help keep older people warmer.

Dream role for Stephanie with Master Class's Maria

DIVA: Stephanie in rehearsals for Master Class. Inset, in Strictly Come Dancing

Stephanie Beacham is known worldwide for her role as shoulder-padded siren Sable Colby in The Colbys and Dynasty.

More recently she could be seen as Ken Barlow's love interest in Coronation Street, as a contender on Strictly Come Dancing and as one of the housemates in the final series of Celebrity Big Brother.

But now she's returning to her theatrical roots, taking to the stage as the great opera singer Maria Callas in Terence McNally's award-winning drama Master Class.

"Playing a notorious diva like Callas? That's not even vaguely daunting, I've lived with divas for years!" laughs Beacham during rehearsals.

"And I've played my fair share of, shall we say, strong women – Rose in Tenko; Connie in Coronation Street, who was a diva of a different kind; and, of course, darling Sable Colby!"

Callas remains one of the towering figures of the opera world. Larger-than-life and gorgeously glamorous, she is as famous for her turbulent private life, her passionate love affair with the tycoon Aristotle Onassis, her rivalry with other opera singers and her untimely death in 1977, as for her extraordinary musical and dramatic talents.

"But what I'm always interested in," says Beacham "is that soft underbelly that even people who might seem to be a true monster have."

Stephanie Beacham take to the stage this week to play the legendary Maria Callas . . .

"The thing that I'm always incredibly amazed by is the fragility that is there somewhere inside this tempestuous creature. She was so paranoid about her contemporaries and the joy of something like this is to have the time to truly investigate someone like her."

Inspired by the master classes Callas gave in New York in the early 70s, McNally's play observes the great diva in action as she puts three aspiring singers through their paces. Witty, bitchy, grandiose, demanding and insecure, she reminisces on the triumphs and tragedies of her life and career, now that both her voice and her personal life have fallen apart.

Master Class was a huge hit on Broadway in the mid-90s and this new version is directed by Jonathan Church, the acclaimed artistic director of Chichester Festival Theatre.

Actors will often talk about a role being their "dream part", but it seems that, for Beacham, that has more literal meaning.

"I know how unlikely this sounds but it started with a dream and not even one of mine!" she insists. "My friend from Tenko, Veronica Roberts, rang me up and said 'I dreamt that you channelled Maria Callas in Master Class'. She was working with Jonathan Church at the time and knew he was thinking about doing his own production of Master Class. She told me 'you should talk to Jonathan about it' but I didn't."

"Then my darling, darling friend Christopher Cazenove died and when something like that happens you suddenly think 'if not now, when?' So I just phoned Jonathan and said 'shall we have lunch?' That was how it started."

"This play is not a casual romp – this is the acting challenge of a lifetime."

■ Master Class, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday at 7.45pm with a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm. Tickets £15-30. Contact: (01223) 503 333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com

Fingers crossed for super village fundraiser

A CAMBRIDGE-based soul band will perform to raise cash for a playground.

Members of group Superstition will be crossing their fingers, hoping the event will raise funds for a play area in Thaxted.

For "one night only", the eight-piece band, featuring musicians from London's West End shows, will perform songs by Wilson Pickett, Stevie Wonder, Earth Wind and Fire, Rose Royce and The Temptations.

The event will take place from 8pm on November 20 at Bolford Street Hall, Thaxted. Tickets are £8.50 each and are available from Parrishes Wine Bar and Restaurant in Town Street or call (01371) 830482.

Profits will go to the re-development of the children's play area on the recreation ground in Thaxted.

Life, love and the struggle to survive

BRINGING to life a vision of New York in the 90s, Rent will deliver to Cambridge's ADC Theatre a bohemian-style rock musical which explores the dark underbelly of life in the Big Apple.

The original, written by Jonathan Larson, won four Tony Awards in its first year, including the coveted Best Musical, Best Book (Musical) and Best Score, as well as the Pulitzer Prize for Drama, demonstrating the talent of its composer and author, Jonathan Larson, who never saw the play performed before his death on the eve of its dress rehearsal in 1996.

This tragedy only adds to the popular cult surrounding Rent, which has a strong following of fans from across the globe.

The story of eight friends living, loving and protesting together brings with it an important message to audience and cast alike.

Discussing her motivation for staging Rent, Sarah Ward, co-director, explains: "This is a better time than ever to stage Rent in Cambridge. While the major issues explored in the show have faded into the background of common consciousness, they are still very apparent in today's society."

"The play's exploration of Aids, unemployment and homelessness offer an insight into a world that is really not too far from our own."

While tackling serious and thought-provoking issues, Rent is also set to delight and entertain, with its grand musical score and striking visuals.

Based around the story of eight friends living, loving and protesting together against poverty and Aids in New York in the 1990s, this musical captures the heart and spirit of a generation of struggling artists, addicts, and impoverished young people.

■ Rent, ADC Theatre, until Saturday at 7.45pm. Tickets are £12 (£8 concessions). Contact (01223) 300085 / www.adctheatre.com

Showing their true colours

FAMOUS faces with a notorious common interest are the subject of an new exhibition at Castle Galleries in Cambridge.

Most Wanted, by Louis Sidoli, features the vintage mugshots of 12 famous and infamous characters of rock and roll, the silver screen and even the criminal underworld, all of whom have fallen foul of the law.

Anglo-Italian artist Sidoli has taken copies of the original Kodak Instamatic or Polaroid first snapped by an anonymous cop or clerk and fused it with the classic Warhol Pop Art treatment, while also drawing influence from the stylised album covers of 80s indie legends The Smiths. The result is an gallery of 12 black and white fun lovin' criminals fused with eye candy colours.

The full dirty dozen are: Jim Morrison, Elvis Presley, Al Capone, Al Pacino, David Bowie, Kurt Cobain, Ozzy Osbourne, Mick Jagger, Johnny Cash, Steve McQueen, Frank Sinatra and Sid Vicious.

The big film

certificate 15 95m

TODD Phillips, director of last year's smash hit comedy The Hangover, reunites with scene-stealing actor Zach Galifianakis for this romantic, cross-country road trip.

Lightning doesn't strike twice, alas, because Due Date takes a simple premise and goes nowhere with it, as the two lead characters travel thousands of miles on a journey of self-discovery.

Four screenwriters attempt to marry slapstick with soul-searching, dealing awkwardly with bereavement and the fear of impending parenthood as the film journeys from Los Angeles towards an obvious emotional crescendo in Atlanta. If the lead characters were more clearly defined and even likeable, we might be willing travelling companions on this odyssey. However, not even the impeccable comic timing of Galifianakis and co-star Robert Downey Jr can spark the dull dialogue to life or compel us to care about the two mismatched men, as they veer from one outrageous misfortune to the next.

Expectant father Peter Highman (Robert Downey Jr) is a workaholic, who keeps in touch with his pregnant wife Sarah (Michelle Monaghan) via his omnipresent mobile phone.

With her waters expected to break in only a few days, Peter prepares to fly home to make sure he is at Sarah's side for the birth. A bag mix-up with fellow passenger Ethan Tremblay (Zach Galifianakis), an aspiring actor who carries his dog in his hand luggage, leads to both men being thrown off the flight.

In the absence of his passport or wallet, Peter reluctantly accepts a lift from Ethan and his pooch, who are travelling to Hollywood to seek fame and fortune.

the conflict of the Middle East. Eventually the father-to-be snaps – "I'm leaving you here because I hate you on a cellular level!" – but the film demands the healing of wounds. Due Date delivers 95 minutes of missed opportunities, including the pointless introduction of Peter's good friend Darryl (Jamie Foxx) so the two men can procure a new car. There's no on-screen chemistry between the leads and we don't believe for a minute that enmity would mellow into companionship by the end of the trek.

A car chase across the Mexican border is preposterous and, similarly, a gross-out scene in the car late at night strains credibility.

Contrasting conifers for a warmer winter

Borders can look so lifeless at this time of year as perennials have died down while deciduous trees have shed their leaves, which is where evergreens come into their own.

Of course, some might just associate evergreens with the columnar conifers so often dotted in among other specimens in the flower border to give height, structure and some colour throughout the year, but you can also feature evergreens in rock gardens, as feature plants in the shrub border and to add vibrance and form to containers.

Of course, the usual evergreen suspects include azaleas, heathers and laurels, but with careful siting and siting, there's a wealth of evergreens which can provide so much more interest.

Don't think that evergreen is just green – look for flowering evergreens which can provide a splash of colour when flowers are non-existent. Plant Choisya ternata 'Sundance' to give the border a yellow feature, or Photinia fraseri 'Red Robin' to provide dazzling red foliage in spring.

Pepper the border with variegated specimens such as Euonymus fortunei 'Emerald 'n' Gold', which is spotted with gold to give an eye-catching contrast to other less colourful plants in winter.

Aim to include both colourful evergreens and deciduous shrubs with either fine flowers or stunning autumn foliage. In general, shrubs tend to go at the back and in the middle of the border, herbaceous perennials at the middle and in front. Aim to have around the same number of evergreen and deciduous shrubs and trees.

It's not only winter when evergreens can come into their own. You may have thought conifers were boring, but they can be used effectively within a hot colour scheme to produce a modern look and are ideal as a feature planting within a low maintenance gravel garden.

For a really hot combination try Crococarpus 'Lucifer' with its pendant arches of red flowers alongside the conifer Thuja 'Rheingold'. The Thuja's adult foliage – a rich, deep old gold – is brilliant in winter as the cold temperature enhances the colour even more.

Add low growing Berberis thunbergii 'Darts Red Lady' with bright yellow heleniums and this will give real warmth all year around.

Conifers can be used to create a classy combination for a sunny position with an emphasis on contrasting colours from the cool end of the colour spectrum.

Use the upright columnar Juniperus chinensis 'Pyramidalis' with its prickly glaucous leaves in combination with the purple-leaved smoke bush Cotinus coggygia 'Royal Purple'. Add the silver aromatic leaves of Artemisia 'Powis Castle' underplanted with the ground hugging Persicaria affinis 'Darjeeling Red' with its bright red flowers and large deepgreen leaves.

Conifers are low-maintenance plants, requiring only occasional trimming, provide shelter for garden wildlife all year and are a favourite of goldcrests and coal tits, providing structure by adding height to delineating areas.

Avoid grouping too many similar conifers together. Go for some contrast and add colour with blue, orange, yellow and gold types. There are even conifers that turn mauve in the winter such as Cryptomeria japonica 'elegans compacta' which look stunning against snow.

They can also be used as a background to other plants. Try dark green behind flaming-red tulips, or blue-grey foliage behind red or blue flowering plants.

Remember though that evergreen doesn't necessarily mean indestructible. Make sure the plant is suitable for the place you're going to put it because an evergreen is not always winter hardy.

And ensure that the variety of shrub or tree you are choosing is evergreen, especially when the genus is a wide one. Check the labels of lonicera, berberis, viburnum and rhododendron, for instance, of which there are both evergreen and deciduous varieties.

shade and alkaline soil.

The most popular type is B. sempervirens, the common box, which will grow to 3m (10ft) or more if left untrimmed and is widely grown as a hedge, planted in pots or trimmed into balls, pyramids or other topiary shapes. For dwarf hedges or edging beds, go for something more compact such as 'Suffruticosa'. Box thrives in partial shade but will tolerate full sun if the soil does not dry out. Grow it in moist, well-drained soil. It thrives on chalky soil or in pots of loam-based compost.

YOUR LOCAL LETTING AGENTS

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

Kia's new Sportage is on sale

Uninsured driving plague

UNINSURED drivers are rife on our roads, according to research by moneysupermarket.com.

Britain's number one comparison site found one in six (15 per cent) motorists have broken the law by getting behind the wheel of a car they weren't insured to drive. Four per cent have admitted breaking the law by driving their own car uninsured, while nearly one in ten (nine per cent) have admitted to driving someone else's car without cover. An additional two per cent say they have driven their own car uninsured in between renewing their insurance policy.

Of those who admit to driving uninsured, an astonishing 36 per cent say it was because they didn't know they needed insurance when behind the wheel. One in eight (12 per cent) just haven't got round to renewing their policy, and worryingly almost one in ten (eight per cent) can't afford cover. Others say there is no point having insurance as they won't crash, or just can't be bothered to get covered (seven per cent each).

Steve Sweeney, head of car insurance at moneysupermarket.com, said: "Motorists beware! A staggering number of drivers are prepared to hit the roads without insurance – a practice that is not only illegal but highly dangerous. While we're all looking to tighten our purse strings, car insurance shouldn't be an area to cut.

"There is absolutely no excuse to be on the roads without adequate cover and I am very surprised to see the number of motorists who aren't aware that they need insurance to drive a vehicle on the public highway. Clearly there is a need for better education."

Men are more tempted to chance the law than women, with nearly one in five (18 per cent) having taken to the roads without any insurance (compared to 10 per cent of female drivers). In addition, younger motorists are the biggest risk-takers, with 28 per cent of 18-34 year olds admitting to driving a vehicle they weren't insured to compared to seven per cent of over 55s.

Steve Sweeney continued: "No matter how safe you think your driving is, if you are involved in a crash and you don't have insurance, you could face thousands of pounds in liability, a conviction including six points on your license as well as the headache of charges up to £5,000. According to the Motor Insurers' Bureau (MIB), uninsured drivers pay £380 million a year for causing damages to other motorists – the facts speak for themselves, it really isn't worth taking the risk, and for those who are foregoing car insurance for cost reasons, it is clearly a false economy.

"Driving uninsured does not only have monetary implications for those breaking the rules, but it also costs every other motorist on the roads too. Uninsured drivers cost the industry £500 million each year and as a result adds an average £30 to every motorist's premium.

"By covering yourself, you are not only protecting yourself in the event of an accident, theft or damage, but you are protecting against other less cautious motorists on the road. While car insurance can be expensive, shopping around for the best deal to suit your needs you can save a considerable amount, leaving you to drive with the peace of mind that you are covered at all times."

Sportage: From £16,645

KIA'S stunning new Sportage crossover goes on sale across the UK Kia dealer network today as a full 16-model range following the huge sales success of the early First Edition version that went on sale on August 1.

The line-up includes four engines, including brand-new highly efficient 1.6-litre direct-injection petrol and 1.7-litre turbodiesel units. These engines come as standard with a six-speed manual gearbox and front-wheel drive, while with the 2.0-litre engines buyers are offered the choice of five-speed manual or six-speed automatic transmissions on the diesel.

All 1.6 and 1.7-litre versions of new Sportage feature Kia's Intelligent Stop and Go (ISG) technology and sit under Kia's 'EcoDynamics' banner, while the new Dymax intelligent all-wheel-drive system is standard on every 2.0-litre model.

All versions are covered by Kia's pioneering seven-year warranty that can be transferred to subsequent owners as long as the 100,000-mile limit has not been reached. Prices start at £16,645 for the 1.6 GDI 2.0 and peak at £26,170 for the CRDi KX-3 auto Sat-Nav AWD.

The First Edition model, which allowed Kia to put new Sportage on sale earlier than had been originally anticipated, is discontinued with the arrival of the complete line-up.

With the new 1.7-litre turbodiesel engine and the fuel-saving assistance of ISG, new Sportage is capable of average fuel economy of 54.3mpg, while CO2 emissions are only 135g/km – on 16-inch or 17-inch alloys.

SsangYong set to launch the all-new Korando

NEW CONTENDER: The SsangYong Korando expected to be keenly priced.

THE all new SsangYong Korando represents a major step forward for the brand, and for a number of significant reasons.

Recently previewed in Mallorca to the international motoring press, the Korando also marks a number of 'firsts'. As a crossover, the new car allows SsangYong to expand from its core SUV (sport utility vehicle) model range, with the practicality of a 4x4/SUV and accessibility of a family hatchback giving the company entry to a major new and growing market sector.

Designed in Europe by Giorgetto Giugiaro, the new car offers a highly contemporary look while featuring a monocoque construction – another first for the marque which has traditionally employed ladder-rack chassis architecture. This new platform will also form the basis of the brand's future product development programme.

SsangYong's hall mark competitive pricing and comprehensive specification will pitch this fourth generation Korando against cars such as the Ford Kuga, Hyundai ix35, Kia Sportage, Nissan Qashqai and Volkswagen Tiguan.

There will be five models from launch in the UK, with the option of two-wheel drive, all-wheel drive, 6-speed manual and automatic, and two trim levels.

Power is from a new Euro5 2.0-litre diesel engine, which delivers excellent fuel economy and impressive 157g/km CO2 emissions.

Coming below the critical 160g/km level permits a 25 per cent tax reduction, especially important for the user/chooser, a key part of the fleet market.

The brand new 170bhp diesel engine makes Korando one of the most powerful in its class, and with a full two tonne towing capacity, also one of the best tow-cars.

A comprehensive five-year or 250,000 mile warranty and low running costs is expected to boost the latest arrival in the rapidly growing compact crossover segment.

The new Korando goes on sale in January. Prices to be announced soon.

THE JEEP CHEROKEE: Used examples under £5,000 can be found.

Snap up a bargain off-roader in time for worst of winter

BRITISH Summer Time has ended, so car buyers' thoughts are again wandering off-road as winter looms.

The harsh weather last January saw used 4x4s become much sought-after, and Manheim Auctions says now is the time to seek one out – with many examples at its regular sales costing around £5,000 or under.

Daren Wiseman, Manheim's valuations manager, says: "Auction prices are competitive at the moment but are expected to strengthen as demand for off-roaders increases in anticipation of more severe weather over the winter.

"You shouldn't be put off by the age and mileage of the vehicle, these are tough machines, but it is worth checking its general appearance and condition."

Wiseman says recent Manheim sales included a 2003 Jeep Cherokee 2.8 CRD, with 129,000 miles on the clock that sold for £3,100, and a 2004 Land Rover Freelander 2.0 TD4, with 114,000 recorded miles, knocked down for £3,450.

In the £5,000 bracket, a 2005 Kia Sportage 2.0 CRDi of 85,000-mile vintage went for £4,900, while a 2006 Land Rover Freelander 2.0 TD4, with 93,000 miles under its belt, realised £5,300.

Meanwhile, more than two million of us sell a used car privately every year, despite worries about getting paid in full and even inviting strangers to our home following a test drive.

"It all takes time and effort, choosing where to advertise, getting the value right – all with no real guarantees that it will sell," says Tim Naylor, spokesman for British Car Auctions (BCA).

"All the while, the car you don't want is getting older, its mileage getting higher, and depreciating more every day. Naylor explains that, while the first option for the majority of motorists is to go to a dealer and part-exchange their vehicle, many still take the plunge and attempt to sell privately – with varying degrees of success.

"A sensible value is critical to a successful deal – too high and you will only realise when the phone doesn't ring, too cheap and it will be snapped up without you even knowing you've lost money," Naylor warns.

He advises buyers to seek plenty of information on the value of your car, and ensure that, at any meetings with potential buyers, you have someone to accompany you or let someone know where you are.

Naylor adds: "When selling a car, sell it safely, swiftly, and try to do so with the minimum of hassle and the maximum benefits."

Finally, some of motoring's big names have all produced cars that, because of poor sales, no-one knows much about. And it is these models that are worth seeking out in the second-hand sector.

Vauxhall, and the firm's Signum, is a good example of this, says Matt Tumbridge, editor of the Used Car Expert website.

The Signum, he says, is similar to a Vectra estate, but with softer styling, making it far more attractive.

"But, because no-one really knows about it, it is usually £500 less than the Vectra. So a 2007 Signum 1.9 CDTi is just £6,400 rather than £6,800 for a Vectra with similar mileage," Tumbridge points out.

"The same is true of premium cars, even within one model type. For example, why do hardly any buyers pick the 4.4-litre petrol BMW 6 Series?

"Well, clearly because people believe it will cost a fortune to run compared to the more popular 3.0-litre diesel.

"If you do 12,000 miles a year, I calculate about £1,000 more. But, the thing is, if you buy a three-year-old 6 Series, it is at least £6,000 less than the diesel to buy," adds Tumbridge.

"Which all means it will take six years before your fuel bill outweighs the saving on purchase price – so, bucking the popular trend can save a fortune."

WHAT A USED BARGAIN: The Vauxhall Signum.

Babraham Bioscience Technologies Ltd

BIOINCUBATOR FACILITIES ASSISTANT

Starting salary range
£21,400 to £25,000 pa

The Babraham Research Campus is the home of the Babraham Institute and its wholly owned trading company Babraham Bioscience Technologies Ltd (BBT). BBT promotes knowledge transfer and translation of the Institute's research and discoveries, actively managing and exploiting the Institute's intellectual property, promoting knowledge transfer both from and to the Campus. BBT's Bioincubator has been developed to bring together all the elements necessary for the successful exploitation of biomedical technologies, and is home to a number of bioscience companies.

BBT is looking to appoint a Bioincubator Facilities Assistant to support the Bioincubator Facilities Manager. This is a new post reporting to the Bioincubator Facilities Manager which will deal with many of the day-to-day issues facing our clients to improve the quality of service they receive on Campus: this will include assisting in the management of Health and Safety (H&S) within BBT, managing central facilities and control service and maintenance of central equipment, liaison with Building Campus Engineering for the implementation of repair and maintenance, to include meeting and accompanying engineers into client premises.

The Bioincubator is home to about 30 bioscience companies ranging from small companies employing 1-2 staff, up to companies employing over 30 people. Supporting the Bioincubator Facilities Manager, the job-holder will assist to ensure the effective and efficient running of all aspects of the Bioincubator.

The successful applicant will have a BSc or equivalent in a biomedical discipline and experience working in a laboratory environment, including operation and maintenance of general laboratory equipment and an understanding of basic H&S requirements and facilities management. Applicants must be computer literate with good working knowledge of Microsoft Office. Excellent client facing, interpersonal and communication skills at all levels will be required, whilst demonstrating a flexible attitude and confident personality.

Starting salary will be dependent upon qualifications and experience. Further information can be found on our website www.babraham.com. Please email bbt.personnel@babraham.co.uk or telephone 01223 496365 for an information pack and application form, quoting reference BFA/BBT/P. The closing date for completed applications is Wednesday, 24th November 2010. Interviews for shortlisted candidates will take place on Friday, 3rd December 2010.

Adams is back with a bang

&gt;&gt; UNDER-EIGHT

Haverhill emerged unbeaten from their three-match series against Hadleigh. They made the ideal start to their first game when John Adams, making his return to the side, scored a try the first time he had the ball in his hand. They went on to record a 25-20 win with further tries coming from Hayden Lawrence (2), Oliver Loveridge and Adams again. The second match was more emphatic, Oscar Harwood leading the side to a 45-0 success. They built on a disciplined defence, registering tries from Charlie Harvey, Luke Wheeler, Craig Martin-Gowing, Lawrence, Loveridge and Adams. Max Hadleigh scored his first try for the club in the third game which ended 30-10 in Haverhill's favour.

Harwood, Adams, Lawrence and Martin-Gowing scored further tries and the only disappointment was that a superb passage of play, which resulted in what would have been a brilliant try, was brought back.

&gt;&gt; UNDER-SEVEN

UP against a physically larger side, Haverhill gave as good as they got and recorded a hard-earned 30-30 draw. Ben Warren and Ben McKay got among the tries to set up a tense finish with Harry Lawrence, Kai Rintoul and Aidan Denty defending well to keep out the Hadleigh attack.

&gt;&gt; UNDER-11

INJURY-HIT Haverhill were unable to build on recent improved performances by crashing to two defeats against Hadleigh. They made a slow start to the opening game and conceded early tries. Brandon McKay scored the try of the game with a clever run into the corner, with the conversion making it 26-7 to the home side. Haverhill made a more positive start in the second match, competing well in ruck and open play and looking the better side. However, they became unsettled as Hadleigh started to show dissent towards the referee and their opponents. Two rapid tries for the home side started the visitors' decline, and although they tried to keep playing rugby, they only managed a converted try from a loaned player and lost 21-7, although Oliver Cooper was held up close to the line.

Cor! Slater silences Rowdies

Haverhill Rov 5 Huntingdon Rowdies 3
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12C

COREY Slater scored all five goals to end Rowdies' unbeaten record.

He completed a hat-trick in the first half as Rovers powered into a 3-1 lead before the break.

With Keiren Grace and keeper Lewis Cass outstanding in defence and Chino Nikem-Paul, Billy Jarvis and Jack Hunsdon working tirelessly in midfield, Rovers were 4-1 ahead before Rowdies struck twice in a late fightback to cause a few flutters before Slater finally polished them off.

Teversham 3 Haverhill Rovers 2
Cambridge and District Colts League, Under-13A

ROVERS and Teversham fought out another in a series of exciting encounters between the sides.

Chidera Nkem-Paul gave the visitors the lead after their midfield battle to gain the early ascendancy, his strong-running style giving the home defence problems.

After again linking with Will Bailey, Nkem-Paul responded to Teversham's equaliser by firing Rovers into a 2-1 lead at the break.

However, the home side clawed their way back to take the points, although Rovers, who were pressing at the end, felt they deserved a draw.

Withersfield 4 Newmarket 2 (aet)
Cambridge and District Colts League Cup, under-14 second round
TWO goals in extra time helped Withersfield come out top in a fiery encounter.

Newmarket arrived intent on hitting another six goals past their opponents, who instead had the better of the goalless first half.

But, despite Aiden Course giving them the lead, Withersfield needed a late equaliser from Liam Santry to force extra time, where goals from Mitchell Burr and Olly Stevenson sent the home side into the next round.

Lakenheath 3 Castle Camps 1
Cambridge and District Colts League Cup, under-12 second round
A FINE first-half save by the Lakenheath keeper proved pivotal in this cup tie, with the home side going on to convert a penalty and grab a second in the final minutes of the first half.

However, Thompson pulled a goal back from a flowing move as Camps pushed to get back into the game.

However, Lakenheath put the game to bed with another goal, although the visitors were pleased with a much-improved performance.

Arbury Aces 4 West Watting 0
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14

WRATTING felt the unbeaten high-flyers from the A division were flattered by the scoreline.

The tie was settled by three quality headers from set-pieces, but the visitors had their own chances from their fair share of possession.

■ Wrattling are looking for a midfielder/striker and anyone interested can attend their training sessions, which are supervised by Level 2 qualified coaches, every Tuesday at Linton 3G Astro or contact Kevin Ager 07769706589.

West Watting 1 Wisbech St Mary 4
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A

THE clash between two in-form sides was a fiercely-contested affair with three yellow cards and a high free-kick count.

But, in a game of limited chances, the unbeaten league leaders, who had scored 38 goals in five games, took their while Wrattling did not.

Their man-of-the-match Tom Pinker ploughed a lone furrow up front in a 4-5-1 formation, but was a constant threat and he was rewarded with Wrattling's only goal from a long-range free kick which made the scores 1-1 after 20 minutes.

Hardwick Harriers 3 West Watting 2
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C

ALTHOUGH Wrattling took the lead with Jesse Luff's goal from some distance in the 10th minute, the visitors ended empty-handed.

They felt the scoreline did not reflect their efforts as Hardwick recovered from a start where they were second best to be level at half time and then lead 3-1.

The scoreline was particularly bitter for keeper James Cutting, who made some good saves before Ellis Wiffen made it 3-2 three minutes from time.

HAVERHILL edged to victory in a thrilling finish to the Halstead and District under-eight Mini Red tournament.

The teams – Earls Colne, Braintree, Dunmow, Castle Heddingham, Wickham Bishops and Thaxted completed the field – were divided into two groups, with games featuring timed singles and pairs matches. So, with the final against Earls Colne tied at 3-3, a play-off was required, with Haverhill a point ahead when the hooter blew.

Athletic Prime-d to win

Haverhill Athletic 3 Sawston A 0
Reg Haigh/Arthur Peck Cup, first round

MANAGER Dave Palmer's call for more urgency in the second half was answered as Haverhill Athletic eased into the second round.

Despite being on top in the first half, the best they could do was a diving header from Letton that hit the post.

However, Haverhill hit the ground running after the break and Griffin broke the deadlock.

Man-of-the-match Prime's turn and shot was deflected in by Letton and they wrapped it up with the goal of the game, Eley heading in after an enterprising move featuring Palmer, Griffin and Letton.

Harrison the record breaker

ALEX Harrison led West Suffolk's glory charge in the regional winter championships at Norwich.

Sixteen-year-old Harrison set East Region senior records in the 100m and 200m breaststroke events, both personal best times and inside the national qualifying time standard. She went on to record best times and add to her medal collection and national qualifying events in the 100m butterfly, 200m butterfly and 200m individual medley.

Bethan Bottomley, 15, managed to win the junior 100m backstroke, just outside her best time, but it was enough to earn her the bronze medal in the senior event.

Bottomley also clocked a personal best in the 200m medley when finishing fifth in the final.

The boys also recorded PBs. Robert Cooper claimed two silver medals in the junior category with best times in both the 400m and 800m freestyle events.

Sixteen-year-old Danny Proffitt added a third in the senior 1500m freestyle in a PB, picking off his competitors one by one in a strong finish. He gained further bests in the 400m freestyle, 800m freestyle and 200m backstroke.

There was further success in the distance events, Jennifer Titterton landing the silver medal in the senior 1,500m freestyle in a PB. In addition, Hannah Reeder and Tom Sarah fell just short of their best times in the breaststroke.

Harkness is in the clear

DENNIS Harkness, the Haverhill club's vice-president, partnered Robert Rudge to victory in the HMP Foursomes Cup.

They were two points clear – they scored 38 points playing off a combined handicap of nine – of the scramble for second place, where five pairs had to be separated by countback over the last six holes. Pat McGarr and Wayne Penman just had the edge from Stuart King and Kim Ward.

■ Jacqueline Condon continued her run of form by winning the ladies' medal competition, finishing on 93-19-74.

Details – 1 Jacqueline Condon 93-19-74, 2 Mary Sall 93-16-77, 3 Marian Mercer 106-26-80.

Betts wants Rovers to be a top-10 hit

Haverhill Rov 4 CRC 0

Ridgeons League, Premier Division

PETER Betts was thrilled with his team's performance on Tuesday as Haverhill Rovers swept aside CRC in the Ridgeons League, Premier Division.

Hosts Rovers were always on top and took the lead in the 15th minute when Neil Cogger fired home.

They remained in control but were unable to extend their lead until 10 minutes into the second half when Calum Harrison cracked in a sweet left-foot volley from 15 yards.

Dalton O'Brien displayed a neat finish to chip the keeper just after the hour for the third and Lewis Harper completed a memorable victory at the New Croft.

"We were excellent," said Betts. "It was one of our best performances of the season. We wanted to bounce back from the defeat to a late goal on Saturday and we did that."

"We were well worth the win and could have scored more as it was pretty one-sided."

"CRC obviously didn't play their best, but that was partly because we didn't let them play in the right areas. We kept our composure and shape."

"Overall, we're having a good season so far, but we've got to maintain it. It's early days still, but I'm hopeful we can get a top-10 finish."

Haverhill Rov 2 Dereham 3

Ridgeons League, Premier Division

A DRAMATIC late winner from the league leaders was a cruel blow to Haverhill, who had battled back from 2-0 down to be on the verge of claiming a useful point on Saturday.

The visitors, opened the scoring just before half time and then three minutes after the restart they doubled the lead with a well-taken free-kick.

Dalton O'Brien scored in the 56th minute and Marcus Hunt equalised four minutes from time.

But hopes of a draw ended a minute into added time when Dereham snatched a winner.

Haverhill travel to Wivenhoe in the league on Saturday and are then due to head to Ely City on Tuesday.

Hills peaks with a Wratting double

DANNY Hills scored twice in West Wrattling's 3-2 triumph at Cottenham in the Kershaw League, Premier Division.

Tom Day had an early penalty saved by home keeper Dan Mayes after Tony Pearson was fouled in the box, but made up for it by scoring on 20 minutes.

Paul Jenkin thought he had put the ball over the line for Wrattling only for the referee to rule it out before Josh Bridgeman got the hosts back on terms on the hour. Hills almost immediately put the visitors back in front only for Jamie Jones to level for Cottenham. But Hills ensured the three points for Wrattling in stoppage time.

Wratting manager Craig Fleming said: "We're on a good run. But I knew it would make a difference when we got a couple of players back."

Lilley struck four minutes from time after Institute finally wore down the visitors.

Rod Gaffan, the Hordon boss, said: "It was a superb performance. We went with a game plan and it worked until the 86th minute."
